

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0021] The invention provides thermally conductive material so that less heat traveling from one side of a layer will reach connection material on another side of a layer. Rather, some of the heat will be conducted away by the thermally conductive material and dissipated.